THE AIMS OF CHILD INCLUSIVE PRACTICE ARE TO:

create an environment that supports disputing parents in actively considering the unique needs of each of their children; facilitate a parenting agreement that preserves significant relationships and supports children's psychological adjustment to the separation, including recovery from parental acrimony and protection from further conflict; support parents to leave the dispute resolution forum on higher rather than diminished ground with respect to their post-separation parenting; and ensure that the ongoing mediation/litigation process and the agreements or decisions reached reflect the basic psycho-developmental needs of each child, to the extent that they can be known without the involvement of the children.
